

Kellogg-Hubbard Library Art Exhibit Expectations

The Kellogg-Hubbard Library provides art exhibit spaces for local artists to display their work. Exhibit spaces are available to artists on equal terms regardless of opinion or affiliation; however, art displayed must be suitable for a public library display area open to adults and children of all ages. The Library neither sponsors nor endorses the views of any individual using the exhibit and display spaces.

- Exhibits are scheduled for approximately one calendar month. Only Library administrators can approve exceptions.
